

I came to my room, and I am waiting for the Lord. Perhaps I have come a little earlier than other days and, just as I make the sign of the cross and was about to pray the rosary, I felt the recollection, I had not even begun the Our Father and I have been gathered. It was a very sober and calm recollection. The images that came to me were very beautiful; of a blue sky, a red rose with drops of dew and thorns on its stem; a chair came to me with bulrush, a guitar standing up. Each image was independent and by itself.

But then, suddenly I saw a small garden with many flowers planted and an army that passed over them.

The images have ceased, I was still in that recollection with great tranquility and I felt to sleep for a few moments. I woke up, I looked at the clock and I saw the time was coming when I usually receive the visions, it was a bit past six o'clock and it has come to me that it is the hour in which Judas betrayed the Lord, that Wednesday is the day of betrayal and that the visions are so that it will never be repeated again, that the Sacred Heart of Jesus be betrayed. About this time I have been gathered again, I have prayed the rosary again. I believe that I prayed the first mystery and could not longer pray I was in that immobility; but that it is a wonderful immobility, it is like been in peace; like my whole body rests in peace. All is rest and peace.

There have been many images, many visions and I ask God to help me to say everything well.

A building, a house, has come to me, neither modern nor old, but a bit shabby. The building was not inside a city or a town, it was like being pulled out of a place and put there for me to see. The door of the building was open and I could see the entrance; it was small and a few steps away from it was a staircase. The Lord was walking by the stairs. It was rather a dilapidated, neglected building with poor materials, but not because poverty, but because of the coldness and carelessness state that it was in. There was a house to the right of that little staircase that later kept going up where there were more floors, but in that first house voices were heard. The Lord was going up the stairs and passing through the doors of all those houses, there were voices, all kinds of bad things were done there, it was like a place where there was sin, brutality, satanic things, obscenities and very bad acts. The Lord was going through that building and through the doors, he was seen and suffering for all those sins committed there.

Later it was I who entered with the Lord through that door of the building, it was like starting over again but now I was going in with the Lord. I carried a pamphlet from the Pastor Supremo, so it felt like He said “Accompany Me to take it to others”. But I said, “Lord I do not dare to knock at those doors”

Then the Lord allowed me to leave them in the doors, outside and I could see them on the floor in front of the doors.

Then I saw a river, a river with a very crystalline water, very pure, it was impressive because it had brightness, the water gleamed, it was crystal clear, it was pure it was limpid water. It carried the normal stream of the river, it was a small river, I could see its slopes. On the limpid crystalline water were these pamphlets, the image of the Pastor Supremo, but they did not get wet, they were on the water. The waters carried them but did not get wet, did not spoil. they were on the water. All these was very nice, it was beautiful.

Then I see a suffocating sun that shone brightly, it looked as if it was very close to Earth. I have known and seen, not clearly, that people die of heat; and it came to me: “Extreme Temperature”.

After that image another came to me: it was a child in diapers in a forest, on the grass, as with something underneath, a little blanket; I felt that the child was fine, comfortable and safe on top of that grass. Suddenly, thin black dogs appeared, their faces very sharp, but they did not hurt the child, they surrender the child, they lay down near him and they were very calm because the boy was the one who was in charge. I have known that this child was the bad one, who was born in this world, who is already in this world, who has grown up, who has prepared himself and at this moment of the vision, remaining in the same image of the forest I no longer saw the boy, but I saw an adult man walking towards the world, I saw him with his back to me. He is already ready to fight the people of God.

After this I have seen, in the same forest, an open tomb, but it was not a cemetery. The vision remained the same for a while, the tomb open, but I did not see anything else. Then there were bugs, worms; and then a demon came out, it was terrible, it was all black, more like a bug than a human appearance, with very small head, the body very elongated and left the tomb crawling, climbing. It came out of the tomb and I knew how they came out of there, it was a mouth of hell and from there the demons came out into this world. When the demons came out of that open tomb, which was a mouth of hell, I understood that the demons will go out as far as God allows them; God will allow this, to test the hearts of His children, to test His children.

When they left the tomb, they left in such a terrible aspect that everyone would have fled from them, but then they assumed a normal presence. Then I saw those demons, in a normal presence, approaching these people and their guardian angels could not do anything because those people heeded the demons. But once the demon has attracted that soul it recovered that horrible, tremendous, terrible, horrible aspect; and they could be seen as they truly were again as they came out of that mouth of hell. What it does after is to imprison that soul that at that moment cries of horror and terror, but that devil takes it to hell, because it is no longer interested in everything he has done before, it was just a job to seize it. But on that road to hell, that crystalline water that I saw fell on that soul and it was his salvation, it was his only salvation. And souls who have accepted, who have wanted that crystalline clear water, in that instant are detached, are released from the clutches of the devil.

After this I saw a person in the desert, who was a soul of those who had been released, detached, who had been rescued from the claws of the demon who was taking her to hell. That person was that soul in the desert, it walked alone, full of peace, full of tranquility, with a robe, with a stick that guided him and where he leaned I understood that this was his way; a path of solitude, silence and of penance. But I felt within me: “Blessed be the Lord! Glory to the Lord forever!”, because the destiny of that soul was hell, but the Mercy of God, the Water of the Holy Spirit, had snatched him from the claws of the devil and leads him to heaven, leads him to life eternal and forever, on that desert road of loneliness, silence and penance. But that soul was comforted, her face was gentle, though I could not see his features, but only the vision of that serenity, of that calmness and peace. He had been saved. I felt the joy of that soul, I felt the Mercy, and I felt: “Blessed be the Lord because it was terrible what awaited that soul and now had been saved!” What does it matter that the rest of her life would be that road in the desert, of penance, it does not matter! Because he is on his way to eternity, he is on his way to heaven. That is the way to purification on that desert but it is also the way towards heaven, he was accompanied by his guardian angel.

It is very difficult for the devil to take that soul again, very difficult.

I could see in the vision that came to me that it was impossible for that soul to be snatched by the devil and try to take it with him, because it was totally covered by the grace of God, but also the acceptance of that soul, the gratitude of that soul, of being saved from hell and walking on the path to God, even if it were a way of purification and of desert, of solitude and of silence.

And it is here where the vision has ended.

When I saw that building, in which after I entered with the brochure of the Pastor Supremo, I heard: "If they come" - referring to the demon - "Why not you?"; "if they come, why not you?"

It is like the Lord wants no one to stay without that opportunity. It is as if the Lord has exposed what is happening, everything that happens, so that we are aware, more aware of our way.

Although all is awful at times, but to see that soul with that peace, with that serenity, how calmly he went to meet God and already he did not care if all his way in life was already so, because he had been snatched from the clutches of the demon that led her to hell.

This is the vision that the Lord has given me today for His Mercy. "Bless be Him forever."

At the end when the vision is over, I understand, I feel that sending, that mission of the Lord to "Go and say", "Go and say it"
