

MESSAGE 47 MAY.2.2018

My chariots of fire¹ will come and fight evil, but until then suffering will fill the Earth, this land of sin and evil created for good and love². There will be no stone left on stone³ in a world of sin that loved evil and went after it while seeing on the Cross his dying Redeemer⁴.

Nothing will escape My Wrath⁵ on the terrible Day of the Lord⁶ because this world will be judged with justice⁷ and severity because it loved evil and turned away from good. Without justice there is no mercy. It is a world created for love that turned away from the Law of the Lord and today the voice of the just and the innocent demands justice from heaven, its tears and innocent blood poured out⁸ by the hatred of satan, cries out to the Father and attracts the Justice of God to this Earth.

Go forward My people, people of Israel, go ahead, walk in the path of your Lord and do not look back because it will rain oil, brimstone and fire⁹ from heaven and everything will be purified on the terrible Day of the Lord.

Darkness will cover this world of sin; the eyes of the blind will see the same as your eyes do, those that see, because darkness will flood this world of sin. The cries and the darkness will sow panic and terror and in those days you should stay indoor, My people, the people of Israel, because the angel of the Lord will be implacable in those days and the blood will run though your streets and squares. The demons will be released from their chains and invade this world.

Your heart and soul long for a new heaven and a new earth¹⁰, people of Israel, My people, but before those days that you yearn for come, your soul must suffer the absence of God to purify the days in which you did not come closer to Me, even though I was available to you, to purify all your offenses to the Son of God, the tears shed for your brothers because of your sins.

Oh My people, how alienated are you from the reality of life, from good and evil, from the end of a world, announced from long ago by your prophets¹¹ in the Sacred Scriptures a reality that you do not wish it, you prefer to continue living among your sins and among the blood shed by evil.

You do not long for or desire the Kingdom of God and its Justice¹² because, if you did, you would expect it every day and every day that it would delay you would feel great suffering and sadness but it is not so, your suffering and sadness is that the Kingdom of God would come to you. When someone waits for a friend, he looks out every day to see if he is coming and the delay of a few minutes saddens his soul. Oh My people, I am more than a friend to you, I am your God and Redeemer and you do not wait for Me and you stone and kill My prophets¹³ with the most cruel martyrdom of being branded as crazy¹⁴. You do not wait for Me because you do not want My return. Only the one that waits each day and looks at the signs of the times¹⁵ and is happy with longing to see them fulfilled to bring My arrival closer, is My friend of the Soul and I will compensate him for his time waiting for My arrival and I will fulfill his yearnings of the Kingdom of God, of the arrival in this world of the Kingdom of God and His Justice¹⁶.

People longing for the arrival of your Savior and each day that delays his arrival your soul grieves, rejoice because your Savior comes and will fill you with grace and blessing.

In a dying world that does not wait for the Savior of his soul, you live, My people, in the martyrdom of loneliness and contempt, branded as crazy and undesirable just because you are faithful to My Mandates, because you love My Gospel and you look out every day to see the arrival of your Savior. Where is your crime, My people yearning and faithful to your Savior? Where is your sin? What sin have you committed? But they persecute you and those who do not follow Me harass you, those who do not believe in the signs that I send you to announce to you that My Kingdom is near¹⁷.

“Alleluia, Glory to God” be in your hearts, My people, because I arrive and I do not delay¹⁸. And the maiden will sing and the couple will dance and the children will laugh and play because a new world is approaching, your liberation is approaching.

In a world corrupted by the evil of satan, the devil, the smile of the righteous one is hidden; the lit candle is kept in the secret of the home, because they do not love you as they did not love Me. You are Mine, and your way is Mine, they already thought Me as crazy¹⁹ and they nailed Me to a Cross, they did not recognize the Savior of their soul, they despise Him and they separated Him from the world of the living because they did not want the Light, the Grace, the Love; they remained blind²⁰ and did not want to see.

You son, that read My Words today, believe in Me, in My Word and start walking the path of the righteous, of the martyrs, of the innocent of heart, of the clean ones of soul.

Nothing will escape My Wrath, My people, because I was at your door²¹, I called you and you did not open it to Me, you did not want your Savior, the One who died for you on the Cross. Oh My people, why did you leave Me alone?

The world will turn off its light because it did not want the true Light, the Light of its Savior²². The world will be in darkness and will see its own sin²³, those who repent will be saved, those who reject salvation will be condemned in the eternal fire that is not extinguished²⁴, because the Son of God came to bring Salvation, came to bring Love and Redemption to a world of sin, but it did not recognize Him, instead it rejected Him and put Him to death, a death on a Cross²⁵, for that reason the world is condemned²⁶: by its own works. Woe to him who holds on to the world as his savior, because he will not know the Light. But everyone who accepts My Salvation and hold on to the Cross, to My Cross²⁷, it will be saved and will come with Me to the Eternal Kingdom, a Kingdom of Love and Justice forever and ever, there My Father awaits you to give you the crown of glory that does not withered²⁸.

A kingdom of Love, without death or tears because death and evil have already been defeated²⁹ and nothing will be left of this world, nor the memory³⁰ of it. You will see your loved ones³¹ and you will enjoy Love for ever and ever.

Let nothing disturb you, only evil and sin; protect your soul from the infernal enemy that only wants your condemnation, protect it with the sacraments; move closer to Grace, to the Baptismal Grace, which you received on the day of Baptism, renewing your baptismal promises and the dew of water and tears be your bread day and night³².

It is late, My people and the night of times looms over this world, move closer to Me, take Me by the hand, follow your Good Shepherd³³ and like docile and simple sheep, do not turn away from Me.

I, Jesus, am with you and I do not turn away from you, little sheep of My fold.

A world will pass; do not cling to it because nothing will be left of it, nor the memory.

Follow the path of your Savior, do not turn away from the Light, for days will come, O Jerusalem, that no one will know where to go or who to follow, the voices of one or the other will confuse you³⁴ and error and confusion will reign, anguish will take you over, because the Light of God, the staff of your Shepherd, will not be present before you as it is now, My people, and wounded, him whom I put in front of My Church, the shepherd of your souls, the sheep will be dispersed³⁵.

Oh My people, the afternoon of the times is near, hurry to come to My fold, where I gather My sheep and I guard them from the wolf day and night.

The music of the angels will come to you the day you surrender your soul to the Father for love of Me; do not be afraid and let go of the ropes that bind you to this world³⁶, because your suffering will be much harder when the Father asks you to give your soul; but, detached from everything earthly and your soul intoxicated in My Love, will fly lightly and without fear to the Kingdom of My Father who is in heaven³⁷.

Seek your salvation and leave this world already; do not cling to it, do not put your heart on it, or you will be easy prey to the devil who is looking for holes³⁸ to enter your lives and take possession of your soul. Tell him; NO!³⁹, being Mine, faithful to My Love. Obey My Words, children, that your salvation is based on this. Amen, amen: one day you will meet Me and you will be happy and will enjoy My Love, but first you must suffer a little still⁴⁰.

Do not be alarmed, live in peace, with your soul in the state of grace and be happy every day with My Love; enjoy what the Father grants you every day placing your sight to heaven.

My chariots of fire will come and end the evil of this world, but you must still suffer a little more; and wait for My arrival every day; look at the signs of the times and await with joy and happiness the arrival of your Savior⁴¹. Amen, amen.

Nothing else should I tell you. Listen to this message of Love that your Savior sends you.
