

MESSAGE 85 JUNE.1.2021

«Come¹ and listen to My voice², people of Israel. Come, and be attentive to My Words, to which I address you today. In the name of the Lord, I urge you: listen to your Lord, open your heart³ to the voice that speaks to you in the silence of the night because you need to hear My voice, the voice of your Lord.

In one evening, I speak to you, I put My Words in your heart; when you wake up, savor the sweet taste⁴ that they have left in you. Ask the Lord to bear fruit in your soul⁵ and bring you to the compunction of your sins.

Listen in the silence⁶ of your heart, be silent in your senses, surround yourself with calm and peace, seek solitude.

Remember your childhood, your lost innocence, your clean eyes and your tender heart, remember, child of My entrails. Look for the kiss of peace, that you received so many times on your cheeks from those who loved you, the maternal caress that wrapped you in bed, the sweet delicacy of hands that loved you and prepared it for you.

Remember your childhood, the simplicity in your words, the humility in your gestures, the clean and unaffected smile that flowed from you, your clean and happy games; This is how God created you, small and humble, defenseless, and simple, clean and happy.

Who killed your innocence and taught you the way of evil? Was it the world and its seductions⁷, and those who dwell in it, and follow the ways of evil? Was it your senses that woke up to evil and you let them follow paths of perdition?

Son, tonight⁸ I ask you to look at your heart as a child⁹, a return to simplicity and humility¹⁰, to the clean joy that pleases God. Yes, son, yes, look at your innocence, the one that you once had and lost¹¹, and not only because of the sin and evil that surrounded you, but because of who was in you¹².

Do not look longing for a past time, do not look with resentment, nor look with desire to return to that time, look to learn and see what God gave you, gave to your life and you lost it, and you want to recover it now in your present time, today; The Grace of God can and does do the miracle of restoring the innocence¹³ to guilty and repentant hearts and to all hearts, since all have needed the Cross of Christ¹⁴, to return to innocence lost or not to lose it by being preserved.

Why do I make you look at your innocence as a child? Because I want your heart to live again and not from the memory but from the present, from the innocence recovered by the Grace of God.

A heart that lives on the Grace of God¹⁵ returns to innocence with that it was created and qualifies for eternal life.

In a world that is on the way to perdition¹⁶, destined for perdition by its works, I want you to live the innocence, son, with which God created you. I want humble, simple, happy hearts that only live on the Grace of God.

The baptismal innocence, purity in heart and soul, son, become worthy of it, walk to the sacrament of penance, cry your sins, the tears of compunction¹⁷ cleanse your soul, let the Lord of your life who died for you on the Cross wash your soul with His Blood¹⁸ shed for your love and you will return to live, yes, son.

The more evil advances in the world¹⁹, I want more clean hearts by the Grace of God, humble and simple and happy, full of innocence and goodness, pure, that's how I want to find you on the day of the Particular Judgment of your souls: with the smile of a child and the courage of a man forged in the suffering and pain of life.

With the innocence of a newborn and the prudence of one who knows the dangers of life.

With a clean look and eyes worn from crying for sins.

With the innocence of a child, recovered by the Grace of God, and the firmness of a man hardened in the pain of life.

It will not be long, children, courage, you must persevere on your way of obedience to My Words.

In a world where the light of good and love is estingushing, I want lights that are on without ceasing, the Light²⁰ of My Grace.

In a world that does not want to know anything about its God, I want you children to teach My goodness and My meekness in the face of evil and violence.

In a world that does not look to heaven, I want clean and loving looks that do not stop looking at Eternity.

Make it alive in you, do not just read My Words: live them and you will feel the happiness lost by man, by evil and by sin that has corrupted the hearts of My children.

On this night of love I urge you, My people, to listen to My Words, to hear the voice of God in your heart. Do not let them pass through your life: make them life in you²¹.

It is late and the night of time is approaching, open your hearts to the voice of God, walk in My ways²², put on your festive²³ dress, your Lord is coming.»
