

MESSAGE 97 JUNE.1.2022

«“Your Kingdom¹ come, come² Lord, our God³”. Pray this prayer with devotion, let your heart say it once and over again, let it be in you and not depart from your lips and heart, because only the one who desires My Kingdom will be in it. Ask for it and it will be given to you⁴, ask for it without stopping with the burning desire in your heart to be in it, to live in it and it will be given to you. How difficult it is to give to the one who does not ask, to the one who does not desire, to the one who does not have, any interest in what is given. But children, pray that in the Mercy of God they open their hearts to the provident and merciful God and even those who do not desire it and do not ask for it come to do so. Nothing is impossible for God⁵ and the power of sincere and ardent prayer moves the mercy of your God⁶. Nothing is impossible for God, children; not even the hardest and most difficult hearts are impossible for God if they are assisted and sheltered by the prayer of those who love God⁷ and desire His Glory.

Children, we are in an alarming moment in history, where everything will be swept away and purified to open the way to a new Kingdom, to the Love of Christ Triumphant over the evil of this world; to a Kingdom of love and justice⁸, where no one will have to cry⁹ or feel alone and dejected because God will sustain Love¹⁰ with His Eucharistic Presence, always and everywhere, and where evil will not have the last word as it does now in so many hearts perverted by the deception and seduction of Satan.

Prepare yourselves with joy to live the exultant joy of the Spirit¹¹ in the Kingdom promised by My Father who is in heaven.

Nothing will be disputed in this world; everything will shine with the Light of My Holy Spirit, and the Truth will break the darkness, and will make its way through so many lies and evil that reign in this world. Everything will be before you clear and bright¹², like the day illuminated by the midday sun. Your eyes will see the Truth and your hearts will be consoled with the Justice of God¹³, which will fall relentlessly on the evil of this world, the one that has made My beloved children suffer so much. That day the mourners will cry and the children and the joyful at heart will laugh, because time has passed and the end of a tragic history in the world is coming because of sin and the evil of Satan. The heavens will open and the Grace of My Holy Spirit¹⁴ will be poured out on all My children and they will exult with joy to live in the Kingdom of My Eucharistic Love.

Oh children, you do not have present in your life the reality of God in you! Why, children? Stop tying yourselves to this world that ends¹⁵, that is going to end.

One day I told you: I will come for you, I will take you with Me to the heavenly abodes;¹⁶ you will live an eternity of love with the Son of men. But when do you think about this? You only think about the things of this world, that's why you do not want the heavenly ones¹⁷. Only he who desires God thinks of Him.

An unknown world for you is approaching full of evil, which will make you suffer and give way to a Kingdom of Love for My children purified in the Great Tribulation¹⁸ that will live this passionate world about evil and perverted by the sin that nests in their hearts.

It is time to gather in the silence of your purified homes and sprinkled with holy water. Light the prayer candle, kneel or prostrate with your heart before God and ask, implore His clemency for you and those around you, that the Grace of God assists you¹⁹ because very hard days are coming, very hard days are approaching for this perverted world in which you dwell My beloved children. You will be harmed for My sake and you will have to leave your homes and cities, towns and villages²⁰ so as not to be seen by the evil of this world. I will make you safe when the time comes. Trust in My Provident and Merciful Love and do not be afraid; only he who does not wait for Me should fear, because the rigor of those days will be stronger than his strength and he will succumb.

Do not distance yourself from each other and live in peace that you will be warned by My Infinite Mercy that does not stop watching over you, but be attentive and vigilant to the signs that I am sending you, that I am making them reach you, and thus the day will not catch you by surprise.

Your heart prepared: detached from the things of this world and your soul: in grace to be called by the Lord at the time the Father decides. Thus you will live in My love, far from the bonds of the abyss. Do not fear, My little ones, I am with you and I do not leave from you.

It is an unbelieving world in which you live and even more faith will be lost. The minions of the devil Satan will take every opportunity to harm My children. He only seeks your ruin, your desertion from the ranks of the army of Christ, your Lord, but always remember that Victory belongs to your God²¹ and do not succumb to sadness and fear.

These are difficult days to abandon the dreams of this world, of this life in which you are and put all your illusions and desires of a Kingdom that you still do not know or imagine, but it will be given to all of you who wish to be in it with Christ²², the Lord.

Do not be alarmed when you have to suffer, suffering is a moment²³ in comparison to an eternity of love and joy with God. It is the price of love: the Cross.²⁴

Cheer up and rejoice when the time comes to depart from this world, do not become attached to it, it is polluted and nothing in it is clean.

Cling to the Cross of Christ, it is your only handle and the door of Heaven.

Be attentive to the signs that I send you²⁵, in them I speak to you of the time to come.

Enjoy the Love of God, it lives in you and assists you in every moment.

Cheer up children, cheer each other up.

Everything was announced by My Holy Spirit in the Holy Scriptures²⁶.

Everything will be filled with light and darkness will be swept away, exterminated from this world with him.

Wait for the light, children, and flee from the darkness of the night²⁷.

I await you, I keep you, I carry you in My Holy Heart.

Do what I command you and take care of each other²⁸.

I assist you and accompany you with My Holy Spirit. Love him and respect the temple in which he dwells in you²⁹.

These are decisive days for My children because it is drawing near, the final time of the sieve, of the harvest, of the collection of the harvest³⁰. The harvesters are coming, those who will reap the field of your lives and what will they collect? Get ready and don't give up, I'm close.»

³¹ The Message had clearly concluded. Isabel is very careful not to add anything on her part. But she began to pray the Our Father without thinking about it, without meaning to. And when she realizes that she has prayed it without intending to do so, she realizes that this is fine and that the readers should do the same in the end. This immediate communication at the end of the Message is not strange, since it had begun with the words of the Our Father, and it is an implementation, contained in this recommendation that runs through this confidence of God with his children, insistently asking that he come his Kingdom and watch in prayer.
