

MESSAGE 135      AUGUST.1.2025

« I speak to you, My dear child, in the silence of the night, in the silence of your heart, dedicated to serving your Lord.

Now listen to me and pay attention: In the sadness of the night, where all is darkness and silence, beats a Loving Heart that awaits the resurgence of the day and the light; it waits in silence and gathers the prayers that, in the silence of the night and the intimacy of the heart, the world makes. A Loving Heart that waits and does not falter, hopes and believes that there will be a resurgence of faith after the darkness of the night the world is living. A Heart passionate for man, who gave the last drop of His precious Blood for him<sup>1</sup>, and who waits; and believes in the heart of man when the Light comes<sup>2</sup> and illuminates every dark corner and cleanses the blindness of evil and corruption. That Loving Heart waits in silence with tenacity and perseverance, endures each night and awaits the new day in which the Light will make truth and faith re-emerge in a world hostile to its God<sup>3</sup>, which has separated itself from Him and does not want Him.

Today I say to you: It is late, and the night of time looms over this world of sin. Beware of the consequences of evil and sin, because your hearts are blind and do not walk in the Light<sup>4</sup> but in the darkness of night<sup>5</sup>.

Now I tell you, who read Me in this Message of salvation: Before the rooster crows<sup>6</sup>, I will extinguish My Light, and your blindness will be complete in a night of rigor such as you have not known nor will ever know, because I stood at your door<sup>7</sup> and called you three times<sup>8</sup>, and three times you denied Me, you offended Me, you fled from Me; in your blindness you did not see Me, you did not want to see Me. The night will blind you, and you will remain there if you do not open yourself to Me and allow Me, like Good Guide, to lead and guide you.

Now I tell you: It is late, you do not seek Me, you do not want My hand, you do not let yourself be led, and time does not allow for further waiting; one day you will lament of such a sweet respite for your Redeemer at your door and your closed door that you did not want to open.

Listen to My voice in the silence of your heart and open to Me, child of My Soul, open to it Me out of compassion before darkness invades you and your rescue, the rescue of your soul<sup>9</sup>, becomes impossible.

I will send you someone to guide you in My Name, and you will see that poor guide sent by the Savior, urging you to take hold of the hand of the Savior<sup>10</sup> because, children, the days are numbered and salvation is at your door, but it will no longer be so when the days of redemption are fulfilled, and everything will be very difficult afterward. Not even the brave and daring in faith could resist it<sup>11</sup> if I do not send help to strengthen them or to rescue them from such a Great Tribulation<sup>12</sup>.

Therefore, I now say to you: Come, come in the last days of the Great Tribulation, come to the last possible rescue, in the days to come, where I will send you the light, the light that will shine in My Name and where all the souls of the Earth will be summoned to a last call of salvation of the Savior.

So now I say to you: Come, my child, come now, come to Me. Listen, listen to your Savior who speaks to you, who urges you to Love and Truth, to the Light and the path of Love that leads to Heaven<sup>13</sup>; let us walk it together. I will take you by the hand even if your eyes cannot see. I will dry your tears<sup>14</sup> because of the rigors of the path that will lacerate your heart. But come, my child, come, because if not, your salvation will not be possible.

Castles are crumbling<sup>15</sup>, the castles of the world, those you have built in your blindness and will have no future, yet you continue to place all your hope and enthusiasm in fictitious things<sup>16</sup> that lack the slightest rigor or consistency. But, children, the Light that does not extinguish is knocking at the door of your life, stop looking elsewhere, at ephemeral and deceptive things. Let yourself be guided by the Truth and the Good, which will come one day when I will no longer be at your door. And then, what will you do when darkness invades this world of evil and sin? Where will you go? Where will you take shelter? Where will you knock, seeking your salvation? Now, now is the time, or there will never be one.

I'm telling you tonight, tonight I'm knocking on your door in a last attempt to rescue.

Before the darkness completely blinds you and everything becomes useless with you.

Before the powers of this world corrupt the last remaining possibility of Goodness and Truth in your heart.

Before it is too late, I call to you in a last attempt to rescue your soul. Come, come, child, come now, come to Me.

In the evening of time, I called you and instructed you in Truth and Goodness<sup>17</sup>, your eyes refused to look at Me and your heart refused to listen to Me. I will tell you: I do not know you. Go away<sup>18</sup>, and your eyes will be deprived of the Light and your heart of the Truth, for it will be the final Judgment of My Love for you. Your corrupted soul will not even listen to Me, because it will no longer want to see or hear Me. There will be no room in you that desires the Truth. Evil and the world, the devil and the flesh, corrupt to that point. You will reach that point, my son, if you are not careful and separate yourself from the darkness and come with Me in the last attempt to rescue your poor soul, which groans in pain within you, imprisoned by the evil of sin. But you laugh and hold your life in your hands with a look of pride and complacency and you don't know that with the slightest breath of your Savior, your life would plummet into death and oblivion. It is your God who sustains you<sup>19</sup> in life and opens your eyes each day to the light of the new day; it is your God who gives you life each day, but you believe it is yours and you imprison it in your hands of evil and perversion.

Therefore, I tell you: Now, now is the time to change your path, or there will be no time, because the darkness will blind your light—yours, the one the world gave you and you took, rejecting the true Light that God offered you in a loving attempt to rescue you from perdition. Now, my child, now, or there will be no possible time to rescue you from the perdition of this world, into which you have fallen of your own free will<sup>20</sup>.

Now gather the cattle and close them in the fold; your work is done. Now your work and your mission is to wait<sup>21</sup>, to wait for the Great Day that is to come<sup>22</sup>. Leave all the cares of the world<sup>23</sup>, all the satisfactions of the world; it will not give them to you because it does not have them; and receive from Me the Salvation that leaps into Eternity<sup>24</sup>.»
