

MESSAGE 136 SEPTEMBER.1.2025

«Listen to the beat of My Heart, it beats for you, for your love, My dear child of love. Tonight I want to declare My Love to you, a love as devoted as yours. I want it to be rewarded here and in Eternal Life¹.

Until the world ends, the world will go through unparalleled tribulation²; all will be pain and suffering because man turned away from God³, turned his back on Him, and refused His Love.

Now I tell you, My dear child of love, you will give me your life and I will accept it, in a sacrifice of love you will live, and for souls you will do it. Today I bring you revenge for so much love, for Me, you will endure the nails and the heavy cross upon you, for Me, you will resist the ignominy to which your Savior⁴ was subjected, and now I tell you: it is a time of love, you will suffer for My Love, and I will give you My Pain⁵, and I will give you My nails as a gift of love and predilection. Now so much pain is over. The time of perdition of so many souls without a champion to defend God is over.

Now I say to you: take up your cross and follow Me⁶, come after Me and follow My steps, those of your Savior; He gave His life for you⁷ and bore the nails for your love, My little child of love, now you bear them for His Love.

It is late, and the world is no longer waiting for you. Everything is over for the world: its hope and its destiny. It has been lost in so much darkness, and nothing awaits it anymore, nothing remains for it, and when all seems lost and darkness threatens to close in on the world, a light has shone upon them from God. My dear child of love, you will come to this world for Me and speak for Me⁸. Never withhold your love for your Savior and for the souls who lie prey to the perdition of a world that has not loved its God⁹.

Now prepare yourself, the moment has arrived, your moment. You will receive from Me the baton of command¹⁰ in your wounds, which will be Mine, and in your blood shed for Me. Never withhold your love from Me. When you see yourself nailed to the cross and forgotten as your Savior, hold fast to Me and offer Me your love, and I will gather it with My hands, filled with love for you.

The world knows nothing of love, My little girl of love, it knows nothing, it only lives to satisfy its desires and its instincts¹¹, but it has strayed so far from Love that it no longer knows what it is, nor how to live true love; you, teach it with My Wounds of Love that you will carry within you, and no one will see them until the time comes when everything will be known.

Now is the time to harvest¹², to learn about love, to give your all for the Savior, to say yes to the One who already gave Himself for you. I once spoke to you about love, dear child, you who read My Message of Love, but you see it as distant, it does not touch your heart, you feel as if your Savior is not speaking to you, that nothing I say in these Messages of Love is for you, that you have remained far from My Love.

Today I come to collect your tears and wait for them to well up in your eyes when you see the shame of not having believed My Words and see all My Work in your hands, touching it and knowing it to be true, like Saint Thomas¹³. Then you will believe and be ashamed of not having fought harder and believed the One who spoke to you through Me and had seen me before you.

Today I tell you: you will regret your disbelief and your abandonment, having been so close to you, you did not see me, you did not touch me because your eyes and your heart were far from Me¹⁴, they were focused on what you desired and that erased the love and the expectation that I expected from you.

Today is a time for forgiveness and to dry the tears that spring to your eyes because in your heart you see how you distanced yourself from Me and abandoned Me. Today I carry you in My Sacred Heart in this Message of Love, and I tell you: return, return to Me, or there will be no more time.

The world believes in the systematic unfolding of life, but it doesn't know that this is not the case. It has deceived itself and does not know that an Almighty God¹⁵ holds life and everything that governs it¹⁶ in His hands, and with a single breath from Him, everything will be extinguished and ended. Why so much effort in life?

There is no longer time for further waiting or contemplation; only the Truth must shine and rule in the world so that a real opportunity for the final rescue may exist. A rescue without equal, because many lost souls will return to My Fold¹⁷ and My Love, and their souls will be saved.

Now I ask you to collaborate with the one I have placed in charge of this time, seeing in her the servant of the Lord¹⁸, crucified and suffering, in whom the Truth of God shines. Only in this way will you see the Work I want to accomplish in the world before its end.

Now you must meditate on this Message of Love in the silence of your heart. Otherwise, what good will it do for Me to speak to you if you don't pay attention? And how will you help if you don't know your Savior's plans for salvation? If you turn a deaf ear to My Words, I will also turn a deaf ear to yours, because a servant is not greater than his master¹⁹.

Now I take my leave, leaving peace in your hearts²⁰, with the hope of seeing the redemption of My souls, for whom I died out of Love on the Cross²¹. Amen, amen.

Time is up; it has reached its end. You will not realize it if you do not heed My Words, and the devil will swallow you up, because he uses your senselessness and unconsciousness to prey on you.

Pay attention and pray to your Lord²² in the silence of the night. Feel small and orphaned if you do not have God. And pray to the God of Heaven for your salvation. Amen, amen.

Time is up, and the time of perdition is coming, but before then, a loving rescue from your Savior will fill the world with hope and salvation. Amen, amen.

If you do not realize what you have in your hands and My Words do not reach your hearts, what will I do, My people? Have you reached that level of unconsciousness? Now pay attention, and you will not regret that day. Amen, amen.

I do not wait for you: I ask you to be at your posts serving your Master for the good of souls. The soldier owes his service, and this I ask of you: that you take up the weapons of love and follow your Master²³ wherever he goes, with the spirit of service and obedience for the good of a world that will come to a bad end and whose path of error and apostasy is now hopeless²⁴. Amen, amen.

It is time to walk and not stop, do not give in to a lifeless sleep²⁵. Wake up, and help your Savior. Amen, amen».
