

MESSAGE 139 DECEMBER.1.2025

« Isabel, I know your name; it is tattooed on My Heart. The time has come to tell you: you are the chosen one of My Heart, and that is why suffering and pain have overwhelmed your life. It is not possible to follow Christ without trials¹, suffering and pain, persecution², and being forsaken by all. To follow in the footsteps of Christ is to live His life³.

The world lacks a sense of purpose, it has forgotten God⁴ and no longer pays attention to its path; it lives only a life of instinct and terror. It has forgotten God and now lives only to satisfy its passions and desires, its personal and collective conquests; therefore, trials will knock on its door to awaken its conscience and save souls.

In ancient times, man was strongly encouraged to pursue truth, to strive for values, and to delve into the meaning of life, and these paths led to God; but now, all of that is forgotten. Society is automated and self-absorbed, and in this state, people will not discover God⁵; they will only encounter themselves and, in their emptiness, they will perish.

Man needs higher purposes to connect with the Creator of his life; only then does he look to Heaven. But now his gaze is lowered, and he seeks nothing more than to satisfy his instincts and passions in a pursuit of pleasure and the comfort of earthly possessions, forgetting all effort and struggle, except when it serves to satisfy himself and his ideals of worldly conquest.

In these times of moral depravity and disregard for Christian and human values, the Lord, God of the Universe⁶, will have to intervene to stop such unrestrained wickedness and evil⁷. The world has become so corrupt that not even murder disturbs its peace⁸ and debauchery; the abuse of children and the pursuit of selfish desires cause some to trample over others; and Christian charity and brotherly love are forgotten values⁹, discarded graces. Who can withstand such a world? What can come of living like this?

The test is knocking at the door, and God allows it to happen in order to awaken and shake the consciences of those who have strayed from Goodness and Truth, Justice and Love; those who have turned away from God and are consumed by an unparalleled selfishness.

It is time to endure the trial¹⁰, and so I leave you with this Message of Love that you receive through the Mercy of God, but even so, My Love does not reach you; you only seek what you understand, but trust and faith in your God and Lord¹¹ are now a thing of the past, forgotten in your world.

The warnings and messages of your God and Lord fall on deaf ears; they are no longer heeded, and My prophets are relegated to a position of contempt and harassment, even by My own Church, which does not recognize them and pays no attention to them; it does not discern the voice of God in them because its heart is dulled by the things and aims of the world.

Now the time of trial has come for this world, a terrible trial because it has separated itself from God and from the path of Salvation; and nothing will remain without justice and without light. Only a short time remains for you when the happiness of Salvation will knock at your doors, and if you do not open them, there will be no more time.

This is a time of unprecedented severity like there has never been¹² because God is disappearing from your lives as never before. You are casting Him out of your lives, more and more, you only want to live without Him, and nothing of God makes sense in your world anymore. More and more, all Heavenly Good is being rejected, and that is why there is no more time left, because if God did not intervene at this moment in history, the corruption of consciences would be absolute, and no one could be saved. Not even your pastors have been spared from this harassment and attack by the enemy against My ministers; they, who should be leading you to Me are leading you to the same place where they are¹³: to the world and its ideas.

The time foretold long ago by the prophet Daniel¹⁴ and so many other prophets has arrived; you can find it in the Holy and Sacred Book: in the Holy Scriptures; but who reads it? Who understands it? You are dulled by the world and only want to talk about worldly things and seek its benefits, instead of looking to Heaven and the Revealed Word where your future has been, stated¹⁵, declared, and prophesied since ancient times.

Now is the time, my children, because neither wars nor calamities managed to make God disappear from your lives as is now happening in this time of apostasy¹⁶. Forgiveness and love, good and truth are unknown, increasingly obsolete and forgotten, and those who live the way and follow Christ¹⁷ are ridiculed, and never before in the entire world has the Name of Christ been so persecuted.

Everything would end with God in your lives, and discarded from you leading you to perdition if God did not intervene to save many souls who will realize the Only Good and Way of Salvation¹⁸, to discover the Love of God that beats from a Heart pierced by pain and suffering, death on a Cross¹⁹.

Now I leave you to your lives and your paths, hoping that many children will realize and open their eyes, looking to Heaven, and that the desire for Salvation and Redemption will be born within them, clinging out of love to Christ, the Lord of lords²⁰, the Son of God²¹ who came to bring retribution to a world abandoned to selfishness and the perversion of man who, filled with grace and blessing by his Creator, succumbed to sin²² and obstinacy in sin.

Now all that remains is to look to Heaven, asking for clemency and mercy from God²³ for the many souls who will find the light in an unparalleled rescue by your God and Lord at the gates of the Great Tribulation that will devastate this world²⁴.

The end has its day and its hour, but you live as if this did not exist and keeping the end in mind is a good start to walk the path because it is objectivity and light to travel it.

Now all that remains is your answer because God has already spoken since ancient times revealing the plan of God for this world, to save it from the iniquity into which man has fallen, alienated from God and prey to his instincts and selfishness, debauchery and wickedness.

Saving mankind from the clutches of the devil cost the Son of God the shedding of His Precious Blood²⁵; for many, this Blessed Blood will be the gate to Heaven which, having been closed, was opened through the Salvation that the Son of God came to bring to the world.

The time begins, the hearts of men have been warned, and everything will happen.

The time has come; arm yourselves with courage, sons of men, to reap your own harvest²⁶, the one you have sown and which will bear fruit, and is already bearing fruit of wickedness and perversion.

Only the salvation of the Son of God can save you and deliver you from this world of wickedness and sin.

Listen, my children, for time is running out and knocking at your doors.
